

Joe Welch Photography

SEO Audit Report

Prepared by Parts of Practice

September 2026

Confidential — Prepared Exclusively for Joe Welch Photography

Your SEO Health Score: 70 / 100

Your site already has a solid foundation: every page has a title and a main heading, structured data is present sitewide, and you have real, verifiable trust signals — 15+ years in business, 1,000+ completed shoots, and a 100% satisfaction guarantee. What's holding you back is a set of very fixable gaps: about a third of your pages are missing the short summary Google shows in search results, your page titles aren't consistently sized for how Google displays them, and — most importantly — another photographer with an almost identical business name is currently competing with you for your own brand searches. The good news: these are fixable, and several of them can be resolved in the first week of work.

What We Found

Our audit identified issues across 6 key areas. Each one is currently costing you visibility.

Issue Area	Finding	Impact
Brand Identity	A different, unrelated photographer operates a nearly identical website, and nothing on your site tells search engines you're not the same business	Clients searching your name may land on a competitor instead
Search Snippets	15 of your pages don't have a written summary for Google to show searchers	Lower click-through from search results
Page Titles	32 pages have titles that run too short or too long for how Google displays them	Missed keywords, truncated listings
Geographic Focus	Your pages currently lead with Miami, but Fort Lauderdale/Broward is your real priority market	Weaker relevance for the searches that matter most to you
Service Priority	The site currently leads with real estate photography, even though aerial, commercial, and resort work are your priority services	Less visibility for the work you most want more of
Content Depth	14 pages, mostly FAQ answers, are very short	Harder for Google to understand what problem you solve

Where You're Losing Clients Right Now

Your Name, Someone Else's Website

When someone searches "Joe Welch Photography," Google shows both your site and an unrelated photographer's site with an almost identical name — with nothing to tell them apart. Every day this goes unresolved is a day some of your searches go to someone else.

Fort Lauderdale Searches Aren't Finding You First

Your titles and descriptions currently lead with Miami-Dade. But you told us Fort Lauderdale and Broward County are your real priority market — which means the market you most want to win is not the one your pages are currently optimized for.

Your Top Services Are Buried

Aerial/drone, commercial, and hotel/resort photography are the work you most want more of — but the site's current structure leads with residential real estate. Search engines take their cues from what's emphasized, so your priority services aren't getting the visibility they deserve.

First Impressions in Search Results

Nearly 40% of your pages are missing the short summary that appears under your listing in Google. Without it, Google writes its own — often less compelling than what you'd write yourself, and less likely to earn a click.

What's Working In Your Favor

- 15+ years in business and 1,000+ completed shoots — genuine, verifiable trust signals
- A 100% satisfaction guarantee with a free-reshoot policy — a real differentiator most competitors don't offer
- Every page already has a title and a main heading in place — the technical foundation is solid
- Structured data is already present sitewide — not every competitor has taken this step
- A complete site structure covering every specialty, each with its own dedicated page
- Positive client testimonials and a magazine feature already live on the site

The Opportunity Ahead

Fort Lauderdale and Broward County searches for aerial, commercial, and hotel/resort photography are currently underserved by your own site — which means there's real room to grow without competing head-on against the Miami-focused players you're currently sharing search results with. Terms like "aerial drone photographer Fort Lauderdale" and "hotel resort photographer Fort Lauderdale" are realistic near-term targets once your pages are re-optimized to match your real market. And with 1,000+ shoots behind you but zero case studies published, a simple monthly case-study habit would give you a steady stream of fresh, locally-relevant content that most competitors in this space aren't doing at all.

Recommended Next Steps

Based on our audit, we've identified three tiers of work:

Quick Wins (Week 1)

- Add the disambiguating schema that tells Google you're a distinct business from the similarly-named competitor
- Write the 15 missing page summaries

- Re-lead your titles with Fort Lauderdale, Broward County

Medium-Term (2–8 Weeks)

- Expand the short FAQ pages into fuller, more helpful answers
- Reorganize on-page emphasis toward aerial, commercial, and resort work
- Clean up your Yelp and Google Business Profile listings to match your real service area

Longer-Term

- A monthly case-study habit, drawing on your 1,000+ completed shoots
- Outreach to Fort Lauderdale/South Florida "best of" photographer roundups
- Quarterly check-ins to track your score and search visibility over time

Let's Talk

This audit reflects a live crawl of joewelchphoto.com completed on September 13, 2026. We'd welcome the chance to walk through these findings with you and talk about what it would look like to work together — no pressure, just a conversation.

Richard

Parts of Practice

803-415-5062

Richard@PartsofPractice.com